USING DISABILITY SERVICES FOR RECRUITMENT

Could you possibly be overlooking a major untapped source of qualified candidates for employment – one that can also provide your business with tax credits; appeal to a diverse customer base; and even reduce your training costs? People with disabilities represent the single largest and most diverse minority in the U.S. But it is believed that employers have not tapped into this workforce because they are unaware of the range of their skills and how to identify candidates.

Come hear how to use readily available resources to ensure the disability market is represented in your workforce.

Our speakers are:

Jane Worth, M.Ed., LSW

Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor, Ohio Rehabilitation Services Commission which provides rehabilitation services to individuals with disabilities. Jane has worked in the area of rehabilitation for 22 years.

TyKiah Wright, MBA

Executive Director/Founder, WrightChoice, Inc., which recently opened a branch office at Wright State University, is committed to recruiting, developing and linking members of tomorrow's workforce to today's opportunities.

Dr. Holly Wright-Brown

Manager, Disability Services, Sinclair Community College - She has over ten years of experience in the field of disability and higher education, specializing in self-advocacy, transition and vocational support.
