RETENTION IN TODAY'S BUSINESS CLIMATE

Those of us who were around back in the day, may remember the old Bob Dylan song, "The Times, They are A-Changin'." Well, Dylan hadn't seen anything yet! Today, the residual effects of perpetual earth-shattering change are ever-present throughout the workplace. Our local economy is experiencing more than its share of layoffs and closings, and those events are fueling heightened anxiety and uncertainty among employees who long for the relative stability of the past. While you may be tempted to lock yourself in your office until the "storm" passes by, we offer the alternative of joining us for our June meeting. Find out what other companies are doing to retain top talent during these challenging times and beyond. You're sure to leave the session with some "news you can use" in your workplace. We hope that you will join us for an engaging session and an opportunity to network with your industry peers.
